The British have tea at tea time.
Have you learned how to tie your shoes?
The tow truck is ready to tow your car.
He is dressed as a toy soldier.
Would you wash your dog in this tub?
I don't see a toad or a stool on these toadstools.
Every tool box should have a tape measure.
This tool is used to cut sheet metal.
The tail on the sting ray has a sharp point on the end.
The teeth on the harvester are very sharp.
There are many tall buildings in this city.
There is a tear in the shirt.
The car has a black tire and a silver wheel.
Which table should we sit at?
Turn the knob to turn on the lights.
Milk is collected from the farms in the big tank.
The gold tie tack is stuck in the tie.
Each of the crystals has a price tag on it.
I often have toast for breakfast.
The green tent is pitched in the forest.

The leaves turn colors in Autumn.
The sea otter is eating.
Sometimes I eat my toast with butter.
Push the button through the button hole to button a shirt.
I wonder what the two penguins are chatting about.
The yellow mitten will keep your hand warm.
Do you stay in a motel when you go on a trip?
The flower has a thin white petal.
We have photos of our pets.
The cute doll is sitting on the chair.
The electric meter measures electricity.
We bought fresh lettuce at the market.
Open the letters with the letter opener.
The red lighter can be used to light the candle.
This is my favorite sweater.
The little clay animal is playing a guitar.
The cotton ball is white and fluffy.
Have you ever been to this city?
This totem pole has two faces carved in it.
Use this tool to tighten the nut.

The grass hut was built next to the tree.
Hit the nail on the head with the hammer.
Tim is wearing a round hat.
The metal bat is leaning against the post.
The black boot is next to the branches.
The green and white boat has docked.
There is a knot in the trunk of this birch tree.
The little dog is sitting at its master's feet.
The butte rises high above the canyon floor.
A bird took a bite out of the strawberry.
Would you like to pet the dog?
The golden wheat is almost ready to harvest.
We bought white and orange pumpkins.
The seaplane can float on the water.
The big jet is getting ready for takeoff.
The big gate keeps people out of the yard.
Will a goat really eat a tin can?
The colorful kite is almost as big as the boy.
Does this scarf match my winter coat?
This cat looks cuddly but it is very fierce.
